

Titusville Morning Herald.

Titusville, Friday, Aug. 3, 1866.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Agents for the Morning Herald.

Travelers' Guide.

Remainder of the week.

Hotel Directory.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Editorial Correspondence.

Recess, July 31, 1866.

Travelers will note with pleasure that the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad Co. have introduced new coaches on their line, newly equipped and painted; they are a great improvement on the old style, which afforded little rest to the weary pilgrim to olden in the "good old days" when every coachman to Titusville was crowded with a feverish throng of spectators.

But it is a matter of general complaint that passengers bound for Buffalo are obliged to lay over at Erie station for several hours, waiting for a train to take them on their journey, reaching Buffalo at half-past ten instead of half-past seven, as they might easily do if they made connections at Erie.

You will recollect that J. Lewis Grant, the well-known and popular Superintendent of the Lake Shore Railroad, some time since resigned his responsible position. His letter of dedication to Dean Richmond was absolute in its terms, assigning as the reason for this course that he had been called to the Presidency of some other road, but the Dean, the Napoleon of railroads, is unwilling to spare Marshal Grant. Some idea of the order of ability and experience of such railroad officers may be inferred from the fact that he can command a salary of $50,000 a year.

Found Rochester thriving and beautiful as ever. Probably the sanitary condition of the city will compare favorably with that of any place, large or small, in the country. I was informed by the health physician, Dr. Doley, that not a single case of typhoid fever had occurred here for months.

The citizens of Titusville think their taxes onerous. Rochester expended over one million dollars last fiscal year derived from taxes and local assessments. I believe the reports of damages by the flood must be included in this estimate. The Fire Department, for one item, cost the city $20,000. We understand that four per cent on the assessed value of property sufficed to meet all charges.

You are aware that the water power of Rochester is hardly surpassed anywhere in this country. It is a pity it was not turned to better account than tanning, which has built up other places at her expense. If Rochester had established general manufactures here, and had maintained public market places, so that seller and buyer could have been brought in contact, without expensive intervention of the grocer, she might have rivalled Pittsburgh to-day, and been twice as rich and prosperous a city as she now is.

But mills are being gradually superseded by other manufacturing and mechanical establishments. Rochester now hosts of one of the best cotton mills in the country. It occupies an immense stone building six stories high, and stands near the brink of the gorge between the middle of the original bed of the river, which has been excavated on either side for its mill and mill-race purposes. It is the old mill of the late John Vicksy, which he began a series of years—about 1835, if we remember rightly, till the breaking out of the war. His heirs sold this fine property to Garner & Co., a firm well known at the East—and it is now in full tide of operation under the experienced management of Abraham Vicksy, Esq., assisted by his son, Charles A. Vicksy. Something over 200 operatives are employed in this establishment, children of both sexes, scarcely 10 years of age, being able to make themselves useful in some of the departments. In a large city like this the applications for the juvenile press are very numerous and constant.

The mill cost this 10,000 spindles and 211 looms, running on pitting clarks, and is capable of making 50,000 yards a week. Extensive results and improvements have lately been made in the mill, at an expense of over twenty thousand dollars. The old brick wheel has been taken out, and a new one, when (Jesse's) pump substituted. It is forty-six and a half inches in diameter, and turns all the machinery of the mill, having a one hundred and fifty horse power and a belt of forty-eight feet. The mill turns all the year round, using about eighteen miles of cotton a week of the good old-fashioned kind. The point works of Garner & Co., are, perhaps, the largest in the country, being located at Waynesboro', Pa., and at Havrestraw in this State.

What an egregious mistake the South made when they tried the source of their rebellion on the assumed fact that "Cotton was King." I recollect in the fall of '60, on the eve of the Presidential election, meeting one of the chivalry of North Carolina at New Haven. He was a son of Governor Graham, and told me how the boys down South were drilling and studying the manual of arms, in view of the contemplated insurrection. I thought it beneath them, but he proved a true prophet, except in his prediction that Great Britain would forcibly intervene, because the stability of their Government depended upon the tranquillity of her manufacturing and commercial classes, upon a constant supply of the great staple, American cotton. But while he did not, perhaps form an erroneous judgment of the interested mercenary motives which could govern her wily class, engaged in the cotton trade and manufacture, he did not ignore the higher order of men, the statesmen, the statesmen of the South, who were willing to suffer loss and devastation themselves, provided slavery could be crushed out and provided the success of Democratic institutions demanded the sacrifice.

I must hasten to a close. The political waters are in commotion here as well as with you. How well I can, the present Member of Congress, and Alfred Ely, who formerly represented this district for two successive terms, is a competitor for the position. He has made an honorable record for himself during the present session. His votes and his speeches have been consistent with themselves, with his professions when elected, and with the prevailing sentiment of the Republican party of this district. A rare compliment was paid to him by his fellow members in raising 30,000 copies of his speech to be struck off as a campaign document. This shows the high position already achieved by Mr. Hart in his first term. He was also selected from the New York delegation as a member of the Congressional Committee, one from each State, for the organization, &c., of the Union Congressional party in the coming campaign.

You may perhaps have observed that a gas company has been organized here, for the manufacture of gas (for heating stoves) from petroleum. If petroleum can be turned to such uses and on an extensive scale, it will be a consumptive devotedly to be wished, by all producers. It will add to the demand for your product, immensely, and take from it that threatening weight incident to it which is so large an element, an article of export.

Our acknowledgments are due to Mr. Harrington, Manager of the Western Union Line, for carrying in its special telegraphic report of the fire at Philo's residence. Also for the commendation of our regular Pittsburgh dispatch of the oil market, which is obtained through his personal agency, and is of much advantage to our readers on the creek.

A fire broke out at three a. m., Friday, in the grocery store owned by M. Drennon & Bros., Venango City, opposite Oil City. The building and stock were entirely destroyed. Loss about $4,000; insured for $1,500 in the Home of New Haven. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

The Erie Gazette, commenting on the recent contest at Erie, says:

The Titusville ball players are plucky fellows, and do not propose to give up the contest for lack of money. They will be ready for another match before the season closes, and may possibly get back some of the funds which their friends and backers who accompanied them staked upon all of the games, and lost.

A GAZETTE.—The Mercury made a sudden descent yesterday, and we were favored with an installment of true October weather, suggestive of overcasts and underclothing as the current necessity.

Mr. Wm. Knorr, of Mead township, was thrown from a horse on Tuesday and severely hurt, the animal falling upon him and inflicting severe internal injuries.

THERE WAS NO MEETING OF THE Common Council last evening for want of a quorum.

FIRE ON HOLMDEN FARM!

13,000 Barrels of Oil Destroyed!

LOSS OVER $300,000!

(Special to the Morning Herald.)

PHILO, CRV, August 2, 1866.

One of the most destructive fires that ever occurred in the oil regions broke out this morning at about half-past six at well No. 43, Holmden Farm, spreading in all directions over the Holmden and Rooker Farms. Twelve wells were destroyed on the Holmden Farm and fifteen on the Rooker Farm, twenty-seven in all. Thirteen thousand barrels of oil were destroyed. The total destruction of property will amount to $200,000. It was with great difficulty that the flames were prevented from spreading over a much larger tract. The loss of Wildpale & Bunde, owners of the Summer and Pratt tract, Rooker Farm, will alone amount to $90,000. Work is already resumed on the burned territory, and well owners are by no means discouraged.

Petroleum.

Correspondence of the New York Herald.

PROSELY, Aug. 2, 1866.

When "wild cat" ruled the roost in Oiltown there was no lack of ready writers, or, rather, sensation scribbles, to furnish Wall Street and the people generally with the "very latest" every hour or two. A telegraph company put up their line and cleared their capital stock in three months, petroleum paying all expenses and leaving a handsome margin. But, now that speculative genius has departed, leaving the fate of this valuable production in the hands of practical working men, it seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

This would be an excellent state of affairs if it could only continue, but the effect upon the producing interest is such as to lead to a thorough investigation of the nature of this commodity and its value in the hands of practical working men. It seems that Goddard has withdrawn the protecting light of his countenance, and left our people to grope for the grove from the bowels of the earth unaided and alone, while a few of your merchants sit in their counting houses and deal in petroleum as they do in flour.

Rem advertisement of Warner & Co., Corry, Pa. for at wholesale delivered on the cars at Corry.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

WARREN & CO., CORRY, PA.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

REMAINING UNCLAIMED in the Post Office at Titusville, Pa., for delivery on the 10th day of August, 1866.

To obtain any of these letters, the applicant must call on the Post Office, give the date of this list, and pay one cent for advertising.

Letters of 100 words or less, 10 cents; of 200 words or less, 20 cents; of 300 words or less, 30 cents; of 400 words or less, 40 cents; of 500 words or less, 50 cents; of 600 words or less, 60 cents; of 700 words or less, 70 cents; of 800 words or less, 80 cents; of 900 words or less, 90 cents; of 1,000 words or less, 1 dollar.

Letters of 1,100 words or less, 1 dollar 10 cents; of 1,200 words or less, 1 dollar 20 cents; of 1,300 words or less, 1 dollar 30 cents; of 1,400 words or less, 1 dollar 40 cents; of 1,500 words or less, 1 dollar 50 cents; of 1,600 words or less, 1 dollar 60 cents; of 1,700 words or less, 1 dollar 70 cents; of 1,800 words or less, 1 dollar 80 cents; of 1,900 words or less, 1 dollar 90 cents; of 2,000 words or less, 2 dollars.

Letters of 2,100 words or less, 2 dollars 10 cents; of 2,200 words or less, 2 dollars 20 cents; of 2,300 words or less, 2 dollars 30 cents; of 2,400 words or less, 2 dollars 40 cents; of 2,500 words or less, 2 dollars 50 cents; of 2,600 words or less, 2 dollars 60 cents; of 2,700 words or less, 2 dollars 70 cents; of 2,800 words or less, 2 dollars 80 cents; of 2,900 words or less, 2 dollars 90 cents; of 3,000 words or less, 3 dollars.

Letters of 3,100 words or less, 3 dollars 10 cents; of 3,200 words or less, 3 dollars 20 cents; of 3,300 words or less, 3 dollars 30 cents; of 3,400 words or less, 3 dollars 40 cents; of 3,500 words or less, 3 dollars 50 cents; of 3,600 words or less, 3 dollars 60 cents; of 3,700 words or less, 3 dollars 70 cents; of 3,800 words or less, 3 dollars 80 cents; of 3,900 words or less, 3 dollars 90 cents; of 4,000 words or less, 4 dollars.

Letters of 4,100 words or less, 4 dollars 10 cents; of 4,200 words or less, 4 dollars 20 cents; of 4,300 words or less, 4 dollars 30 cents; of 4,400 words or less, 4 dollars 40 cents; of 4,500 words or less, 4 dollars 50 cents; of 4,600 words or less, 4 dollars 60 cents; of 4,700 words or less, 4 dollars 70 cents; of 4,800 words or less, 4 dollars 80 cents; of 4,900 words or less, 4 dollars 90 cents; of 5,000 words or less, 5 dollars.

Letters of 5,100 words or less, 5 dollars 10 cents; of 5,200 words or less, 5 dollars 20 cents; of 5,300 words or less, 5 dollars 30 cents; of 5,400 words or less, 5 dollars 40 cents; of 5,500 words or less, 5 dollars 50 cents; of 5,600 words or less, 5 dollars 60 cents; of 5,700 words or less, 5 dollars 70 cents; of 5,800 words or less, 5 dollars 8

NEWSPAPER ARCHIVE®

Queens served in European style. Private parties accommodated. Ladies' Room on second floor. nov26/11

OYSTER BAY RESTAURANT.
at the B. B. GOODWIN, Proprietor. on the corner opposite the American Hotel.
Serving in every style. Meals at all hours. Dishes supplied with all the delicacies of the season, and in style the choicest Wines and Cigars. and different

TOMATO CATSUP.
In one and two million tins, for hotel use. A constant

HIGHEST PREMIUM

SEWING MACHINE.

BROWN & VICK

Bank Street, Franklin street, Thirteenth,

MORNING NEWS AND PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT
PRINTS: and binds all kinds of job sheets and all kinds of business letters on short notice.

REPRESENTATIVES: FINCHAM, 12-First and S and National Banks, and Howe Bros. & Cogswell, Merchant Hotel.
KING, Pa.-Keystone National Bank, J. W. Deming,
 C. A. Best, Hon. A. King, Kn. Mayor, and B. F.
 Lynn, Daily Dispatch.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa.-Lancaster & Smith, No. 48 N. street.
NEW YORK—DEWEY & POTTER, Bankers, No. 11 Bro-
 street.
HOCKESSER, N. Y.—G. C. Smith, Reg. C. C. Room
 24.

FOREIGN REPRESENTATIVES

ATTENTION!

It is a christian injunction to "feed the hungry" and Cameron Brothers, proprietors of the New York Patent Bakery, on Franklin street next North of McMillen Street, New York, are endeavoring to obey the command by the manufacture of Bread of all descriptions, also Cakes of every variety and style, as well as Pastry, and in fact all that is usually found in a First Class City Bakery. The Cakes usually Brown Bread, etc. are had steaming hot on Thursday and Sunday mornings.

WARRANTY DEKERS, Newly Printed and Bound, for sale at the MOVING PRESS

County, Pa., for sale in tracts to suit purchasers. The territory has every indication of good oil bearing land.
HENRY MCKENY
 Dealer in Oil Lands, Oil Interests, and Western Lands, Pithole City, Venango Co., Pa.
 Office 107 Hollenden street, opposite Post Office.
 Dec.

CONKLING RUN.
 350 Acres of beautiful OILLAND for sale on Conkling Run, Warren Co., Pa. This territory is considered No. 1.
HENRY MCKENY
 Dealer in Oil Lands, Oil Interests, and Western Lands, Pithole City, Venango Co., Pa.
 Office 107 Hollenden street, opposite Post Office.

PRACIAL JEWELRY AND WATERMARK
 On Chas. Miller's new store, east side of Franklin street
 Watches, Jewelry, Pen and Pencil Cases and Station-nery and thoroughly repaired on short notice
 Large and reliable stock of Jewelry, Stationery and ammunition for sale, at New York prices. All work warranted. Prompt my orders by leaving my card
 Titonville, Pa. July 2. C. MILLER
 Jy-2nd

NEW TOMATOES,
 From New Jersey, in good order to be had daily at
 H. H. BAILEY'S Dispensary and at the German Fruit Store.

NEWSPAPER

IVE®